

The Parcel That Arrived Thursday

Saturday, 16 October 2010 22:28

I promised I would tell you about this pile of goodness yesterday but I took a pretty fantastic slip on our fresh ice and by the time I could be writing I was so stiff all I wanted to do was nap. Today my shoulder is a little sore and my knee is Technicolor (yes I managed to bang both) but I am otherwise just fine - all the more so for a bunch of freshly washed and pressed new fabric residing on my shelves.

My parcel was from The Workroom in Toronto and I had mostly forgotten what I'd ordered so it was pretty exciting to open. Inside were two big pieces of bamboo jersey in black and a lavender grey (love!), another big piece of Nani Iro in a deep eggplant purple with polka dots, half a metre of a Denyse Schmidt Hope Valley print (more lovely grey), Stylish Dress Book No. 3, and a fat quarter of "The Owl and The Pussy Cat" from the new Far, Far Away Collection by Heather Ross that was a treat from Karyn (and is super cute!).

The Parcel That Arrived Thursday

Saturday, 16 October 2010 22:28

you can't get it from anywhere else (it's not on the internet)

you can't get it from anywhere else (it's not on the internet)