

The left side of my zipper foot is for invisible zippers.

I've sewn several invisible zips with this foot and never, ever realized this. You wouldn't believe how much easier everything is when you're using your machine properly.