

A Trip to the Greenhouse

Sunday, 13 May 2012 04:37

That first trip to the greenhouse in the spring is always a bit special. So colourful and so fragrant. All I was getting was a few bags of potting soil but I took my time looking around first.

I checked out the animals: chickens, goats and a couple of donkeys were all I could see but a friend of mine said she saw a couple of sheep last week.

The shrubs and trees outside are still very bare and grey looking but inside the green house is moist, fragrant and colourful.

A Trip to the Greenhouse

Sunday, 13 May 2012 04:37

...to know what happened as soon as I walked into that

...the first little while things looked a bit like this. Still smelled fantastic though.

...to know what happened as soon as I walked into that

