

Waiting

Wednesday, 06 March 2013 03:37

---

We're starting to get calls and emails from friends and family who apparently think we will have our baby and not tell them about it. Don't worry, if we know you well enough for you to be asking about it, we know you well enough to let you know when it happens: the baby hasn't arrived yet. In the meantime I made another batch of muffins for the freezer. Spice muffins make the house smell so good.