

Hands!

Thursday, 09 May 2013 01:36

---

Maisie is two months old today. She's already so much bigger than she used to be. I was rotating her clothes around yesterday so the ones that fit are in the top of the dresser. The newborn things are so small. Did she really fit them? Where did my tiny baby go?

Maisie appears to have found her hands. She balls up her fists and stares at them whenever she is in the cradle or on the changing table. I love the intensity of her expression.