

Rainbow Toes

Sunday, 11 August 2013 20:56

---

Maisie and I went out in the car yesterday to run an errand. When we got home she was asleep in her car seat so I set it in a shady corner of the living room and sat down nearby with some knitting to let her nap. By the time she woke up the sun was making rainbows through the window and landing on her toes. She was fascinated. Lots of stretching and wiggling followed. I got to finish my row before she was ready to be picked up.